

CONTINUOUS DISCLOSURE AND SHAREHOLDER COMMUNICATIONS POLICY

XANADU MINES LTD
ACN 114 249 026

Xanadu is committed to:

- ensuring that all market participants have an equal opportunity to review and assess material information made available by the Company; and
- compliance with the continuous disclosure obligations under the ASX Listing Rules and the Corporations Act 2001 (Cth) (the Corporations Act).

This document sets out the Xanadu Continuous Disclosure and Shareholder Communications Policy. The Policy outlines:

- The Company's continuous disclosure obligations under the ASX Listing Rules and Corporations Act;
- how Xanadu Personnel are required to deal with potentially price-sensitive information, and communications with external stakeholders such as the media, security holders and the community to ensure that the Company meets its continuous disclosure obligations; and
- the Company's shareholder communications policy generally.

The Policy applies to:

- all Directors of Xanadu; and
- all employees, contractors and consultants of Xanadu, together referred to as Personnel.

Appendix A provides an overview of the continuous disclosure process.

1. Continuous Disclosure

1.1 Xanadu's Continuous Disclosure Obligation

ASX Listing Rule 3.1 requires Xanadu to immediately disclose to the market any information concerning the Company of which it is or becomes aware that a reasonable person would expect to have a material effect on the price or value of the Company's securities (Price Sensitive Information), unless the information falls within the exceptions set out below.

For the purposes of Listing Rule 3.1:

- a reasonable person would expect information to have a material effect on the price or value of Xanadu's securities if it would, or would be likely to, influence persons who commonly invest in securities in deciding whether to subscribe for, acquire or dispose of Xanadu's securities;

Two questions can be considered when determining whether information may be Price Sensitive Information:

1. Would this information influence my decision to buy or sell securities in the Company at their current market price?
 2. Would I feel exposed to an action for insider trading if I were to buy or sell securities in the entity at their current market price, knowing this information had not been disclosed to the market?
- Xanadu will be considered to have become aware of information where a director or officer of the Company has, or ought reasonably to have, come into possession of the information in the course of the performance of their duties as a director or officer of Xanadu; and
 - "Immediately" means promptly and without delay, i.e. doing it as quickly as possible in the circumstances and not deferring, postponing or putting it off to a later time.

If ASX considers that there is or is likely to be a false market in an entity's securities, and asks the entity to give it information to correct or prevent a false market, the entity must immediately give ASX that information.

1.2 Exceptions to Listing Rule 3.1

Xanadu is not required to disclose Price Sensitive Information if:

- (a) one or more of the following situations applies:
 - it would be a breach of the law to disclose the information;
 - the information concerns an incomplete proposal or negotiation;
 - the information comprises matters of supposition or is insufficiently definite to warrant disclosure;
 - the information is generated for internal management purposes; or
 - the information is a trade secret; and
- (b) the information is confidential and ASX has not formed the view that the information has ceased to be confidential; and
- (c) a reasonable person would not expect the information to be disclosed.

If any of the three elements outlined above ceases to apply in relation to Price Sensitive Information, Xanadu must disclose that information immediately.

1.3 False Market Obligation

If ASX considers that there is, or is likely to be, a false market in the Company's securities and asks Xanadu to give it information to correct or prevent a false market, Xanadu must immediately give that information to ASX. This obligation to give information to ASX arises even if the Company considers that the exception outlined in paragraph 1.2 applies.

1.4 Confidentiality

If information is not disclosed in reliance on the confidentiality exceptions as outlined above, the confidentiality requirement must be maintained at all times. If information loses its confidentiality, Xanadu will then need to consider and determine whether the information needs to be disclosed to the market. If a movement in the price of Xanadu's securities is related to the unauthorised disclosure of confidential information, the Company may be required by ASX to take action to ensure Xanadu is in compliance with its disclosure obligations, specifically to prevent a false market.

All employees and Directors of Xanadu have a duty not to disclose confidential information to any person other than with the express consent of the Company or in circumstances required by the law. This obligation is set out in the Xanadu's Code of Conduct which is to be observed by all Personnel.

Where confidential information is to be provided to another party, measures must be put in place to ensure that the confidentiality of the information is maintained, such as a legally binding confidentiality agreement.

1.5 Is Disclosure Required?

To ensure the Company complies with its continuous disclosure obligations, Personnel must notify the Managing Director or Company Secretary of any information that may have a material effect on the price or value of Xanadu securities as soon as they become aware of that information.

The senior management of Xanadu are expected to continuously consider potential disclosure issues and compliance with the Company's continuous disclosure obligations.

The Managing Director and Company Secretary, acting together with the other officers where necessary, will consider whether information needs to be disclosed, taking into account the law, the ASX Listing Rules and market expectations.

If a disclosure is necessary, the disclosure must be approved by the Board or a person or committee of persons as delegated by the Board, or in the case of a routine administrative matter, the Company Secretary.

1.6 Making a Disclosure

If there is information that requires disclosure under Listing Rule 3.1, Xanadu will immediately disclose that information to ASX.

The information will be provided to ASX first, and Xanadu will not give it to anyone else until the information has been given to ASX and ASX acknowledges that it has been released to the market. Once the information has been released, Xanadu can issue the information to other parties, such as the major investors or the media. The information will also be placed on the Company's website.

Information must not be given to third parties such as media or analysts before ASX, even on an embargoed basis.

1.7 Authorised Spokespersons

The only persons authorised to speak to ASX or externally (such as analysts, investors, brokers or shareholders) in relation to the Company are the:

- Chairman;
- Managing Director;
- Chief Geologist; and
- Company Secretary.

Authorised spokespersons must comply with this Policy and any internal procedures regarding external communications about Xanadu.

Only the Board has authority to approve the release of an announcement to be made to ASX to comply with the Company's Continuous Disclosure obligations, other than routine administrative announcements which may be made by the Company Secretary.

Where any other person receives a request for information or comment about Xanadu from a third party, that person must advise the third party that they are not authorised to speak on behalf of the Company, and where appropriate they should refer the enquiry to an authorised spokesperson.

1.8 Market Speculation & Rumours

As a general policy, Xanadu does not comment on speculation or rumours unless a response is required under the ASX Listing Rules or the law. If ASX forms the view that a false market has been created and requests the Company to provide information, the Managing Director and Company Secretary will proceed as if it were a continuous disclosure matter under paragraphs 1.5 and 1.6, and prepare a response to ASX.

1.09 Trading Halts

Xanadu may request a trading halt or suspension of quotation of securities pending an announcement, to prevent trading in the Company's securities in an unfair or uninformed market. The Managing Director and Company Secretary will determine whether to apply for a trading halt, in consultation with the Chairman.

1.10 Inadvertent Disclosure

If any Price Sensitive Information is inadvertently disclosed by Xanadu Personnel to a party outside the Company, the Managing Director and Company Secretary must be immediately notified to that the information can be considered in the context of Xanadu's continuous disclosure obligations.

1.11 Specific Price-Sensitive Information

Xanadu Personnel must comply with the Xanadu Securities Trading Policy, which includes provision that Designated Persons (as defined in the Policy) may not deal in the Company's securities during Black Out Periods and Other Black Out Periods.

Where the Company is undertaking a specific corporate transaction which constitutes Price Sensitive Information, the Company will obtain assurances from third parties to ensure that any Price Sensitive Information remains confidential, including where necessary requiring parties to enter into confidentiality agreements.
